

Local artist Debbie Shirley poses with her artwork at Harbor Place. (Photo courtesy of Ann Jones)

The Greater Haverhill Arts Association is making their mark on the Harbor Place iHub. As part of a new collaboration between the innovation hub and the art organization, local artists' work will be displayed for two months at a time for city residents to enjoy.

Kicking off the Art Niche exhibit is Debbie Shirley, whose work will be displayed in January and February.

The exhibit, on the third floor of 2 Merrimack St., is open for viewing Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Artists interested in showcasing their work in future months can email info@ghaa.art for consideration.

After 12:47pm on Thursday January 18th, 2018 this article available to paying WHAV members only.

Related

Arts Association Exhibits at Haverhill Library Through Nov. 29

Haverhill Public Library is hosting an exhibit by members of the Greater Haverhill Arts Association through Nov. 29. The art work is varied in subject matter and media – oil, acrylics, watercolor, and pastel. Paintings are by Robert Gablosky, Sean October 30, 2014