

THE LAST WORD

FHLB Boston Around the Region

Dedication Ceremony, 40 Upton Street, Boston

On October 19, 2011, the Planning Office for Urban Affairs held a dedication ceremony for 40 Upton Street – 18 units of supportive housing for homeless men and women in Boston’s South End. The development was the recipient of a $325,000 grant from the Federal Home Loan Bank of Boston’s Affordable Housing program. Top left: from the left, Steven Carvalho, acting undersecretary, Department of Housing and Community Development; M. Susan Elliott, executive vice president/chief business officer at the Bank; Susan Schlesinger, president, The Massachusetts Life Insurance Community Investment Initiative; Michael Hatfield, senior vice president/community development lending, Bank of America Rhode Island, N.A.; Cynthia Lacasse, president, John Hancock Financial Services; Lisa B. Alberghini, president, Planning Office for Urban Affairs; and Thomas Menino, mayor of Boston. Top right: 40 Upton Street entrance. Bottom left: Cardinal Sean P. O’Malley, archbishop of Boston; and M. Susan Elliott. Bottom right: from the left, Joanne Sullivan, vice president/director of government and community relations at the Bank; William Grogan, chief operating officer, Planning Office for Urban Affairs; and Christine Rogers, senior community investment manager at the Bank. ■